

February 2017

The British High Commission, Nicosia is delighted to invite you to attend the Two-day Seminar on ADR (Alternative Dispute Resolution) that will take place on 14th & 15th March 2017
at ETC Centre, 4 Prince Charles, Agios Dometios, Nicosia (tel. 22779810).

The training will be performed by local and British experts and will address the importance and range of Alternative Dispute Resolution and new advances in the field, as well as relevant issues on rules, law and dispute management.

A certificate of attendance will be offered upon completion of the course. The British High Commissioner will also offer a small reception immediately after the end of the second day, at his Residence close to the venue of the seminar.

No previous ADR training is necessary, however, the seminar will be targeted at legal practitioners, members of Arbitral Institutions and Directors in Commercial, Shipping and Finance fields.

As seats are limited, to express your interest and to receive more information, please complete the attached registration form and send to mahi.solomou@fco.gov.uk by Friday, 3rd March. For further information and/ or clarifications, please call 22779810.

The training will be opened by Mr. Andreas Demetriou - Barrister, C. Arb., Chair CIArb Cyprus Branch.

For Security Reasons please bring with you a form of identification